

Inflatables social media posts

Thank you for supporting the joint effort between RoSPA, HMCG, Trading Standards and the RNLI to prevent inflatable related accidents on the coast in Scotland this summer. Below are some templated social media posts that can be used throughout the coming months in conjunction with the images attached in the accompanying email.

If you are able to schedule the posts and tweets included in this document near weekends, during spells of good weather and through the summer holidays, we will hopefully be able to reach some of those parents that might have otherwise been persuaded to take an inflatable toy to the beach for their kids to play with.

As the summer progresses, we will be back in touch if additional information and stories about inflatable usage occurs.

If you have any further questions about these materials, please contact scott\_fraser@rnli.org.uk
